

Writing Political Lives

Curtin, Chifley, Fisher

David Day

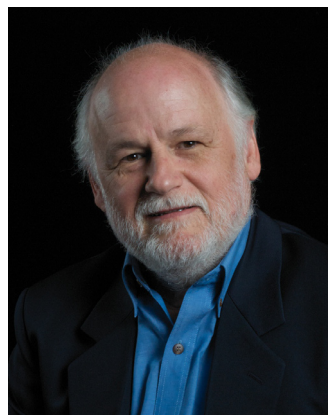

6 pm Wednesday 9th
September
National Library of Australia, Canberra

6 pm Friday 11th September
Ground Floor, Tower Building
University of Technology,
Sydney

6 pm Thursday 17th
September
State Library of Victoria,
Swanston St, Melbourne

The annual Seymour Lecture on Biography, with associated activities, including seminars and workshops, is hosted by the Biography Institute at the Humanities Research Centre. The lecture, which has been generously endowed by Dr John Seymour and Dr Heather Munro AO, is delivered first in Canberra, and then in two other Australian cities. It will be published in the Australian Book Review.

These lectures are free and open to the public.

Photographer - Gavin Warren

Professor David Day is currently an Honorary Associate in the History Program at La Trobe University and Visiting Professor at the University of Aberdeen. He has written widely on Australian history and the history of the Second World War. His recent books include Conquest: How societies overwhelm others, The Politics of War, the prize-winning biographies Chifley and John Curtin: A Life and the best-selling history of Australia, Claiming a Continent. His latest book is Andrew Fisher: Prime Minister of Australia.

Convenor: Professor Paul Pickering,
Director, Graduate Studies,
Research School of Humanities
Enquiries: Paul.Pickering@anu.edu.au
<http://www.anu.edu.au/hrc/>